DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 11-15 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected Group, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11 September 2006.
2. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-10 in the reply filed on 11 September 2006 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1 and 4-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yokoyama et al. (US 2005/0253290).

The applied reference has a common Inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Regarding claim 1, Yokoyama ('290) teaches throughout the reference a method of forming microstructures on a substrate, the method comprising: disposing a curable material (2) on a substrate (1), wherein the curable material comprises a viscosity of less than 12,000 cps (paragraph 0017); contacting the curable material with a flexible mold (10) starting at a first end of the substrate and proceeding at a substantially uniform contact speed in a first direction and applying a substantially uniform contact pressure; forming the curable material, using the mold, into a lattice pattern, wherein the lattice pattern comprises a first set of ribs aligned in the first direction and a second set of ribs aligned in a second direction substantially orthogonal to the first direction, wherein the first set of ribs comprises a pitch of less than 500 microns (table 1); curing the curable material; and removing the mold.

Regarding claim 4, Yokoyama ('290) teaches the pitch of the first set of ribs is less than 300 microns (table 1).

Regarding claim 5, Yokoyama ('290) teaches the ratio of the average width of each rib of the second set of ribs and the average width of each rib of the first set of ribs is at least 1.5 (table 1).

Regarding claim 6, Yokoyama ('290) teaches a plurality of ribs of the first set of ribs are connected by intervening land regions, and further wherein the intervening land regions comprise a substantially uniform center thickness (figure 2).

Regarding claim 7, Yokoyama ('290) teaches a plurality of ribs of the second set of ribs are connected by intervening land regions, and further wherein the intervening land regions comprise a substantially uniform center thickness.

Regarding claim 8, Yokoyama ('290) teaches the curable material comprises a ceramic material (paragraph 0057).

Regarding claim 9, Yokoyama ('290) teaches the curable material comprises unrolling the flexible mold while contacting the curable material starting at the first end of the substrate (figures 3A-3C).

Regarding claim 10, Yokoyama ('290) teaches removing the flexible mold comprises rolling the flexible mold onto a receiving element (figure 4E).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2-3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Regarding claim 2, the prior art of record neither shows nor suggest firing the curable material after removing the mold.

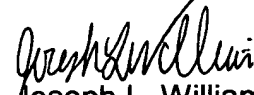

Due to its dependency, claim 3 would necessarily be allowable.
